

BBC Concert ORCHESTRA

Principal Conductor: Keith Lockhart
Principal Guest Conductor: Johannes Wildner
Conductor Laureate: Barry Wordsworth
Composer in Residence: Jonny Greenwood
Leader: Cynthia Fleming

The BBC Concert Orchestra...

... is one of the world's most versatile broadcasting orchestras, with a repertoire ranging from light classics, musical theatre and films to opera, jazz and contemporary commissions. On radio, TV and in the concert hall, it has performed recently with artists as diverse as Dame Shirley Bassey, Smokey Robinson, Bill Bailey, Elbow, Dame Kiri Te Kanawa, Jose Carreras, Barry Manilow, Bryn Terfel, Dame Judi Dench and Brian Blessed. The BBC Concert Orchestra has performed weekly for Friday Night is Music Night – the world's longest running live music radio show – for more than 50 years.

SUB-PRINCIPAL VIOLIN I (sitting no.5)

Salary range £33,100 - £34,780 (including London weighting)

The BBC CO has a vacancy for a player who must be able to demonstrate the following:

- Excellent professional orchestral playing ability
- Considerable experience across a range of musical styles
- Knowledge of the BBC Concert Orchestra repertoire
- Versatility - you may be asked to sit up (possibly to the front desk) with little notice

You can apply for this job on line at <http://www.bbc.co.uk/jobs>

Or via this link: https://jobs.bbc.co.uk/fe/tpl_bbc01.asp?newms=jj&id=35113

For any further information, please contact:
Claire Barnes, Assistant Orchestra Manager, BBC Concert Orchestra
Tel: 07815 464165
Email: claire.barnes@bbc.co.uk

Closing date Wednesday 15 September 2010

The BBC is an equal opportunities employer.