Our current strategy:

This year, we are launching a refreshed strategy that will guide our work through to 2030. Our focus is on deepening our impact while reaching as many children and young people as we can through Big Noise. We are committed to listening to the voices of children, young people and communities, ensuring they shape how we move forward.

Our values underpin how we work – with children and young people and their families, and with each other. Our values are:

- Ambitious: we build on our strengths and aim high
- Creative: we bring innovation and possibility to everything we do
- Compassionate: we work with kindness to build supportive environments where everyone feels valued
- Committed: we work with children and young people over the long-term and in a flexible way

What we do:

Our Big Noise programmes use music and nurturing relationships to support children and young people to realise their potential as well as improving lives and strengthening the communities we work alongside. Our programme is focused on early intervention and stimulating generational social change, increasing confidence, aspiration, community cohesion, pride and developing high level skills in the young people involved.

Who we work with:

We work with children and young people from babies to school-leavers, their families and the wider community.

How we do this:

Our Big Noise programmes include instrumental lessons, general musicianship sessions, and group teaching in our afterschool & holiday clubs, as well as home visits and community choirs/ensembles/performances.
