About King's

1502

The King's School in Macclesfield is a thriving co-educational day school, educating pupils from Pre-School to Sixth Form (ages 3–18). There are around 1,320 pupils and around 250 staff, making King's one of the largest HMC schools in the country.

King's is situated a mile or so from Macclesfield town centre on a stunning 80-acre campus and is within easy reach of some of the nation's finest cities, towns and countryside.

King's was founded in 1502 by Sir John Percyvale and re-founded in 1552 by King Edward VI. It has enjoyed a distinguished history of providing high quality education for local children for over 500 years.

The school is the oldest with links to the Merchant Taylors' Company; the school's founder having been Master of the Company before becoming Lord Mayor of London. In 2002, the school's Quincentenary was marked by a visit from HRH Her Late Majesty the Queen. Until 1978 King's served as a boys' county grammar school, but it is now completely independent and retains the tradition of a local school serving its community, providing bursaries to support those whose financial circumstances would otherwise prevent their admission.

After 400 years of boys' only education, the school originally admitted girls to the Sixth Form and, following the success of this, opened a Senior Girls' Division in 1993 on the site of the former Macclesfield Girls' High School, which also housed the Infant and Junior Division. The school operated from these two sites, with a third sporting facility at Derby Fields, until 2020 when it moved to a single, completely new, purpose-built campus on the outskirts of Prestbury.

The School campus boasts 80 acres of Cheshire countryside, modern and impressive indoor and outdoor learning facilities, as well as expansive sporting facilities.

The school is organised into three Divisions: the Infant & Junior Division, Senior Division and Sixth Form Division, and each has its own facilities and separate Principal who reports directly to the Head of Foundation. The school has a strong academic reputation with a commitment to forward-thinking and broad-based education.

Academic Life

Pupils benefit from the highly qualified and committed teaching staff, small class sizes and a disciplined learning environment. We deliver a broad and innovative curriculum, within a supportive and stimulating learning environment that fosters an atmosphere of intellectual challenge.

In 2025, the percentage of A*-A grades at A Level was 57%. The percentage of grades 9-7 at GCSE was almost 60%. We are currently ranked in the Top 5 Independent Schools in the North West for academic results (2024). The vast majority of students progress to their first choice university, attaining places on highly competitive courses.

We put a strong emphasis on working hard, striving for excellence and developing independent learners. This starts in our Infants and carries on through our Seniors to our Sixth Form.

Our curriculum is designed to create lively and enquiring minds so that pupils can ask good questions and then investigate them, become creative thinkers and challenge ideas.

We aim to develop lifelong learners equipped with good learning habits and transferable skills such as collaboration, reflecting, reasoning and resilience. We focus on helping pupils understand how they learn and on developing higher-order thinking skills such as analysis and evaluation.

Pupils are self-motivated and ambitious about their learning and achievement.

We believe strongly in the development of the whole person through many and varied activities encouraging all students to get involved.

There is a strong commitment to extra-curricular activities and King's reputation for music, drama and sport is firmly established. Interest in a wide variety of pursuits is actively encouraged, and all kinds of clubs and societies flourish.

Our academic results are amongst the best in the country because of our balanced approach, not despite it. The school has excellent provision for outdoor learning and outdoor pursuits, and is a Duke of Edinburgh operating authority in its own right. King's offers a broad range of sporting opportunities, from netball, hockey and rugby to sailing, trampolining and equestrian squad.

A large number of pupils have gained national and international honours for sport. King's is currently ranked 31st in the Top 200 schools in the UK (School Sport Magazine January 2025).

Pastoral Care

A friendly and caring community

Outstanding pastoral care is at the heart of the King's School: our pupils have enormous potential and our staff are committed to providing an environment in which every single pupil will flourish.

The school offers a caring, friendly community in which the pupils are encouraged to accept responsibility and to set themselves high standards in all they undertake.

The quality of personal relationships is of a very high standard at King's; this was highlighted in our most recent ISI Inspection.

There is a strong sense of community, aided by our Prefect system, House system and peer support networks. Pupil voice is encouraged through our School Councils and committees.

We are very proud of our bespoke tracking systems and good communication with parents that help children thrive. Our small classes allow strong relationships between pupils and staff.

Within each Division is a well-structured pastoral team. Form tutors, Heads of Year, Vice-Principals, Principals, dedicated Pupils Managers, as well as our school nurses, form a very strong pastoral team.

VISITING MUSIC TEACHER (PIANO)

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Music is a popular subject within the school and enjoys success across all age ranges. The Department is housed in its own wing of the main academic building across two floors. It includes four teaching rooms for the teaching of academic lessons. Two of these rooms are lined with keyboards and two rooms lined with desktop computers. There is a suite of rehearsal rooms and additional smaller rooms for individual instrumental music lessons. The Department also has its own Recital Hall for smaller concerts, and performances can seat around 100 guests. Larger concerts take place in the Drama Studio (to seat approximately 200 guests) or the Jackson Hall (which can seat approximately 650 guests). There is also a dedicated instrument store and departmental office.

The Department currently consists of the Director of Music, a full-time Music Teacher and a Graduate Music Assistant in the Senior and Sixth Form Divisions. The Department also benefits from dedicated administrative support. The Infant and Junior Division have their own Head of Music, although there is much sharing of expertise across the Divisions, and Senior Division teachers also teach some Year 6 lessons.

All pupils study a course in Music in Years 7 and 8 and then select creative options in Year 9 before GCSE options. At GCSE, pupils follow the Edexcel specification, whilst at A Level, pupils follow the AQA specification. The Department also offers a course in Music Technology as part of the Sixth Form Extended Studies programme. Academic results are strong and value-added is routinely amongst the best in the school. Students regularly go on to study Music at a range of conservatoires and Higher Education institutions.

Beyond the classroom, Music is thriving at King's. Pupil engagement is high at every level and there is a comprehensive programme of peripatetic lessons that serves pupils of all ages. The Music Department hosts a very busy extra-curricular programme, with rehearsals for an array of ensembles, orchestras and choirs taking place before school, during lunch and after school. Musical events are a key part of the school calendar, and include large termly concerts, a Family Carol Service, a monthly Chamber Concert Series, King's Swings and the King's Music Competitions, as well as multiple school services. The Department also enjoys performing in the local community, and the Senior Choir perform Evensong in cathedrals each year. Frequent trips for musicians are also organised and the annual trip to the Lake District is well supported and highly popular.
