

Principal Artistic Planner

Artistic planning and leadership focus

Six-month contract position

Based in Wellington New Zealand

Founded in 1946, the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra is the country's national symphony orchestra. It has a full time complement of 90 musicians and is a touring orchestra presenting up to 100 concerts each year in up to 20 communities across New Zealand. The NZSO makes film soundtrack and CD recordings and its performances are broadcast by Radio New Zealand.

Maestro Edo de Waart is the NZSO's Music Director and the Orchestra attracts many of the world's leading conductors and soloists each year.

The NZSO is seeking an experienced Principal Artistic Planner to work closely with the Chief Executive and the Artistic Planning team. This is the senior role in the Artistic Department and the Principal Artistic Planner will take responsibility for leading the NZSO's Artistic Planning activities including artistic programme design, planning and implementation.

The successful candidate will have experience in a senior artistic role with a professional orchestra or similar, demonstrated expertise and knowledge of the orchestral repertoire and strong international industry networks.
